PURPOSE OF THIS TOOL

The S.A.F.E. Tool is an inventory of questions designed to facilitate a discussion with a survivor on safety strategies around firearms. When a survivor is concerned about threats of or actual firearms violence from an abusive partner, survivors and advocates can use this tool to evaluate if, when, how, and for what period they want the abusive partner to be prohibited from access to firearms. The information obtained from this Tool can assist survivors when creating a comprehensive personalized plan to improve their safety and the safety of their child(ren) by allowing them to incorporate their strategies around firearms. This Tool is not a lethality assessment tool nor should it be used as one.

Note on Terminology: To ensure consistent terminology throughout this tool, we will refer to the individual who has committed acts of domestic violence as the “abuser.” We acknowledge that such individuals can also be referred to by other names such as respondent, defendant, former partner, but for clarity and to encompass most circumstances, we will use the term, “abuser.”

WHO SHOULD USE THIS TOOL?

The S.A.F.E. Tool is designed for survivors and the attorney or advocate who assists them in preparing a comprehensive safety plan that includes firearm safety and, if they so choose, a petition for a protection order that requests the removal of these weapons from their abusers. It may also be helpful in assisting a survivor or victim witness in a criminal proceeding where the court may be able to order that the abuser not have access to firearms or ammunition. The attorney or advocate working with the survivor should be knowledgeable in the areas of intimate partner violence and the state firearms laws of their jurisdiction. This Tool is not intended for use by system advocates, prosecutors, law enforcement professionals or any other professional who may assist survivors because safety planning must be done in a confidential context.

HOW TO USE THIS TOOL

This Tool consists of an inventory of questions divided into seven categories and a photographic guide of commonly possessed firearms. Please review each section in order. Each section is pertinent in helping the survivor make informed choices around firearm safety. It is recommended that the attorney or advocate working with survivors use this Tool in conjunction with the Firearm Checklist for Advocates [insert hyperlink]. This Checklist can provide guidance on the federal domestic violence firearm prohibitions and how to remove weapons from prohibited persons.

Other Tools: What about extreme risk protection orders (ERPOs)? ERPOs have different purposes than domestic violence protection orders (DVPOs). Please view the Extreme Risk Protection Order Toolkit to learn more about the differences between DVPOs and ERPOs and how and when ERPOs should be used to remove firearms.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE FOR SURVIVORS

Safety planning is an ongoing process. This Tool should be revisited as necessary when revising your safety plan. If you change your mind after reviewing this Tool and no longer want the firearms removed or want to discuss safety strategies related to firearms that remain within the ownership, possession, or access of your abuser, please contact your community advocacy organization. If you need help locating a legal service or advocacy organization, please contact the National Domestic Violence Hotline: www.thehotline.org for CHAT; 1-800-799-7233; 1-800-787-3224 (TTY).

IMPORTANT CONFIDENTIALITY CONSIDERATIONS FOR SURVIVORS AND ADVOCATES

Federal law has established safeguards to protect the confidentiality of survivors of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, or stalking. Shelters, rape crisis centers, domestic violence programs or similar victim service programs that receive funding through the Violence Against Women Act (VAWA) or the Family Violence Prevention Services Act (FVPSA) may not disclose any identifying information about the survivor, the survivor's location, or the services the survivor received from their program without the informed, written, reasonably time-limited consent of the survivor. Even if a program is not receiving federal funding, many states have confidentiality laws or domestic violence victim/ advocate privilege statutes that limit the information an advocate may disclose regarding a conversation with someone who seeks or receives services from their organization.

Advocates have an obligation to advise survivors of the laws that protect a victim's right to confidentiality. When discussing this information, advocates should also inform the survivor of the different roles community advocates and system advocates play in assisting, as well as the limits in confidentiality and/or privilege communication protections. This information will assist the survivor in making an informed decision before sharing confidential information. For more information on federal confidentiality requirements and strategies to protect the privacy of your clients, please visit the National Network to End Domestic Violence's confidentiality resource.

S.A.F.E TOOL FIREARM REMOVAL SUPPORT

S.A.F.E. TOOL INVENTORY OF QUESTIONS

The inventory of questions consists of seven sections. Each section is devised to facilitate a discussion and analysis of the risk and benefits of having firearms removed from an intimate partner.

Please review each section in order unless otherwise directed to another section.

When assisting a survivor, please check in to assess whether they feel comfortable providing this information and begin the discussion with information about why the presence of firearms in domestic violence situations increases risk, decreases safety, and do not provide an effective means of protecting oneself in most situations.

Section A: Ownership, Possession, or Access to Firearms

S.A.F.E TOOL LAW FIREARM GUIDANCE

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT FEDERAL FIREARM LAWS

The federal Gun Control Act makes it unlawful for the following categories of persons to ship, transport, receive, or possess firearms or ammunition:

- Felons
- Fugitive from justice
- Unlawful drug user or addicts to a controlled substance
- Persons who have been adjudicated as mentally ill or who have been involuntarily committed to a mental institution
- Illegal aliens and non-immigrant aliens
- Persons dishonorably discharged from the armed forces,
- Persons who have renounced their U.S. citizenship,
- Persons who are the subject of a qualifying protection order
- Persons convicted of a “misdemeanor crime of domestic violence” See, 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)

(including where the victim and defendant were in a dating relationship.)

OFFICIAL USE EXEMPTION FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT AND MILITARY PERSONNEL SUBJECT TO QUALIFYING PROTECTION ORDERS

The federal Gun Control Act (GCA) prohibits persons subject to a qualifying protection order from possessing or receiving firearms or ammunition. 18 U.S.C. § 922(g)(8). However, 18 U.S.C § 925(a)(1) provides an “official use exemption” to this prohibition for law enforcement officers performing duties on behalf of a federal, state, or local law enforcement agency or military personnel. The individual must be authorized and required to receive and possess a firearm in his or her official duties. The exemption applies to “official duty” weapons while on duty. Possession of a personal, non-service firearm is prohibited. The exemption does not apply to officers who are off-duty or are not authorized by statute, regulation, or official departmental policy to possess their duty weapons for the purpose of performing official duties.

Although the GCA permits an officer who is subject to a protection order to receive or possess a firearm in the course of his or her official duty, state and local laws may prohibit possession. Moreover, law enforcement department policies may be more stringent and may require the officer not to possess firearms during the course of the protection order.

NOTE: Tribal law enforcement agencies are not covered under the official use exemption unless they are cross-deputized by a federal, state, or local law enforcement agency.

GUIDE TO IDENTIFICATION OF FIREARM TYPES

Important Information To Discuss with Survivors:

Before reaching out to any law enforcement or government agency about firearms removal, you may want to consult with an attorney to examine the advantages and disadvantages of doing so. There may be situations in which you risk getting arrested yourself when you seek to have firearms removed. If you have a protection order against you, have a criminal conviction that prohibits you from having or being around weapons, ever purchased a weapon for someone else (even if you were coerced), suspect someone may have used your name to buy a firearm, or believe any of these situations may apply to you but you aren't sure, then it is a good idea to talk with an attorney to help you assess the pros and cons of contacting law enforcement to share information regarding your abusive partner's weapons. Please note that law enforcement officers don't have to keep information you share with them confidential, and may have legal obligations to act on the information you provide to them.

Please look at the pictures on the following pages to help identify the firearms owned or possessed by your intimate partner.

The catalog below represents some of the most popular firearms and magazines on the market. The list is divided into five categories: (1) semi-automatic, automatic and revolver handguns, (2) shotguns, (3) bolt-action rifles, (4) semi-automatic and automatic rifles, (5) ammunition magazines. Next to the picture of each firearm or magazine are the item's manufacturer/make, the model's name and any accessories pictured, and, for firearms, the weapon's most common caliber. When reviewing the list, be aware that many firearms come with a variety of finishes and accessories; the pictures here represent common configurations. Pictures are not to scale.
